MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

FROM: Dave Gries

SUBJECT: Weekly Report

The Congressional scorecard for January through June is shown below. I am concerned about the increase in briefings of Congressional staffers despite efforts to put on the brakes; we must do better. On the other hand, your increasing investment of time as reflected in the figures for DCI/DDCI testimony and meals is a positive development that is the key factor in our comparatively smooth relations on the Hill.

	1985	1986
Briefings of Staffers	217	256
Briefings of Individual Members	159	200
Briefings of Members in Committee	50	73
DCI/DDCI Testimony before Committees	17	28
DCI/DDCI Hosted Meals	7	22
Totals	450	579

The House bill on Contra aid contains a number of restrictions; most are expected to be adopted by the Senate as well.

- \ Contra groups violating human rights, smuggling drugs or misusing public funds can receive no assistance. This means that we can expect an endless effort to implicate Contras in these activities.
- Title II gives the Secretary of State responsibility for supervision of aid to the Contras. This could infringe on some DCI authorities, but in practice State will probably be only too happy to look the other way while CIA supervises the program.
- Accounting procedures must be developed in consultation with GAO, HPSCI and SSCI. In the past, we have worked at arms length with GAO, but this provision may force us to change the ground rules somewhat.

60-4

- The 15 October and 15 February Presidential certifications regarding human rights and accounting procedures will obviously lead to close HPSCI, SSCI, and GAO attention to these issues. We will probably need to adopt special measures to create a full written record.
- The bipartisan commission directed to report independently to the House and Senate is certain to require access to our records.

The Senate passed the Diplomatic Security Act with our amendment introduced by Senator Lugar limiting the authority of the Secretary of State to the "coordination of staffing levels" abroad, rather than the "establishment of staffing levels" abroad. A technical amendment was also adopted to assure that the Act did not impair current CIA authorities. In July, the Act will go to conference, where we expect State to press again for "establishment" instead of "coordination". To block this we are attempting to have appointed as Conferees members of SSCI and HPSCI who are crossovers on their respective Foreign Affairs Committees.

Both houses in recess until 14 July. SSCI staff working up personnel hearings, meeting with DDA...Hecht travelling to London, Bernie McMahon to East Berlin and Bulgaria...HPSCI staff working on budget reconciliation with House Armed Services...Stump, Hyde, Cheney and Daniel travelling to Pakistan and Saudi Arabia (overlaps with DCI visit).
